

OneRach meeting the vikings

Things have to start somewhere

POWER

to the girls

If you want something you need to give everything you have to reach the target

It was a nice and dry thursday evening June 9th 2011, but it was windy. The OneRach team was set of the bus in Augustenborg and should for some hours get the feeling of the life of the vikings.

After a short instruction we startet to row the ship out of the harbour. In the start it was not looking to nice, but after some training it went better. The hard wind and low water where we should land gave us no choise than return to the harbour. With the wind from behind we did not need to row!

On the naust (boathouse) there was mjød (mead) as welcome and short after the dinner started with wild boar and some chickens and good danish heave beer from the micro bewery Villemoes. After the meal all people were send out for tug-of-war. This went into a game where the wimen challenged the men - 2 to one. The men won but it was very fun to see! The cofe and the story behind the boat.

The team was very good and we only saw happy people. Thank you for a nice day!

on behalf of the viking crew
Steen Weile

Danfoss

